Golden Apple Award (Excellence in Pre-Clinical Teaching) from the Class of 2019

Golden Apple Award (Excellence in Clinical Teaching) from the Class of 2017

The Golden Apple Awards for Excellence in Teaching and Education are given to two DGSOM faculty by students they wish to recognize for outstanding contributions to medical student education. Every year the finishing second-year Class gives awards to two faculty for their contribution to the pre-clinical curriculum (years 1 and 2). The graduating gives Class gives Golden Apple awards to two faculty for their contribution to the clinical curriculum (years 3 and 4).

Faculty Inductee from the Alpha-Omega-Alpha Honor Society - Humanism Award

The Gold Humanism Honor Society (GHHS) is a signature program of The Arnold P. Gold Foundation, which seeks to elevate the values of humanism and professionalism within the field of medicine and its constituent institutions. The mission of the GHHS is to recognize individuals who are exemplars of humanistic patient care and who can serve as role models, mentors, and leaders in medicine. The Society currently has over 22,000 members in training and practice. The David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA Chapter of the Gold Humanism Honor Society recognizes senior medical students, residents, and role-model physician teachers for "demonstrated excellence in clinical care, leadership, compassion and dedication to service." GHHS serves as a steadfast advocate for humanism through a variety of activities for students and healthcare professionals. Every year one faculty member is chosen by the students to be an Honorary Inductee.
